

Government VIDEO

Print this document

IntraLogic, Rave Partner On School Crisis Response Tool
Cameron Vigliano

MASSAPEQUA, NY– IntraLogic Solutions and Rave Mobile Safety have developed an emergency response tool that helps school officials to better contact first responders during crisis such as active shooter situations.

The solution, which leverages IntraLogic's expertise in security integration and Rave's public safety data and communication software is still in development, but Rave says it will integrate Rave's signature panic button and 9-1-1 data delivery capabilities into IntraLogic's video surveillance, interactive digital floor plans, one-button lockdown and access control technology.

“At a time when security concerns at schools and other facilities are on the rise, new technology and approaches are needed. By integrating Rave's technology into our solutions and platform, we will provide a unique breadth of security and safety capabilities for schools and other institutions,” said Lee Mandel, CEO of IntraLogic Solutions.

Anyone interested in the developing emergency response tool for schools and first responders should visit Rave Mobile Safety's website or IntraLogic Solutions website.

Print this document